ESSENTIALS OF POLICY DEVELOPMENT

EXECUTIVE EDUCATION

► INTRODUCTION ◀

Public sector managers and policymakers are under constant pressure to deliver high quality solutions to complex socio-political, economic and sectoral problems and issues. But what are the skills needed to identify policy problems, assess options, formulate solutions, test their effectiveness, and evaluate their impacts? What kinds of policy making approaches should be used in dealing with different but interrelated policy issues?

To answer these questions, the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy offers the Essentials of Policy Development programme. Participants in this course will gain detailed foundational knowledge and frameworks to understand the policy development process, from conceptualising public policy to evaluating options and measuring the outcomes and impacts. The programme will also equip participants with analytical, decision making, evaluation, and communication tools to help them become more effective in their roles.

▶ PROGRAMME OBJECTIVES ◀

Over 5 days, participants will be introduced to the main theoretical frameworks and tools being used to analyse, develop, implement, monitor, evaluate, and communicate public policies. Topics include:

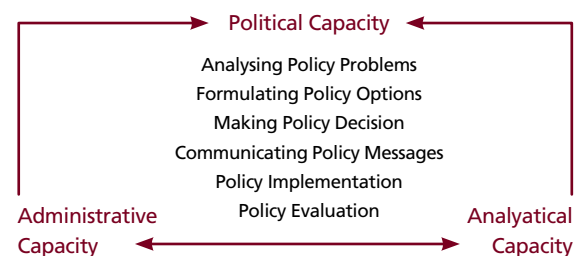

- › Conceptualising policy capacity
- › Political capacity: sharpening policy acumen
- › Administrative capacity: managing the policy process
- › Analytical capacity: establishing evidence-based policy process
- › Identifying and defining public problems
- › Formulating and assessing workable solutions
- › Overcoming barriers to policy implementation
- › Monitoring and evaluating outcomes
- › Stakeholder management in policy development
- › Handling complexities in public policy
- › Communicating policy messages

▶ TARGET AUDIENCE ◀

The programme is designed for policy analysts, strategists, and government professionals in policy functions, with more than 2 years of work experience. It is most suited for anyone requiring introduction and exposure to policymaking and programme development.

With an international appeal, the programme regularly attracts participants globally, including Singapore, Bahrain, Brunei Darussalam, Egypt, Japan, Macau, Malaysia, Oman, Philippines, Portugal, South Korea, Timor-Leste, UAE, United Kingdom, and USA.

▶ PROGRAMME FOCUS ◀

The EPD programme combines interactive lectures, policy case studies and facilitated group work to maximise participants' learning in both conceptual and practical spheres. It will provide participants with a comprehensive framework for understanding the policy cycles to relate it to current policy practices and apply their learning to various policy sectors.

Through the programme, participants will:

- › Understand the importance of political, administrative and analytical capabilities in shaping policy development, as well as the gaps and issues that needs to be addressed by policymakers
- › Learn comprehensive and multi-faceted approach to analysing, developing, implementing, monitoring, evaluating, and communicating public policies
- › Acquire and sharpen their technical skills in each stage of the policy development processes
- › Increase their confidence in mapping out and dealing with stakeholders, as well as in communicating policy messages to their organisations and the general public
