

LANCE L. P. GORE

SENIOR RESEARCH FELLOW

East Asian Institute, Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy

Lance Gore is Senior Research Fellow at the East Asian Institute, National University of Singapore. He has done research and publications on a wide variety of topics, including Chinese environmental politics, the reforms in China's steel industry, energy sector, patterns of entrepreneurship in mainland China, the economic bureaucracies of China, cadre performance evaluation, local state economic behaviour, the Chinese Communist Party and industrial relations. Previously he taught at Bowdoin College and the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy of Tufts University in the United States. He is the single author of three monographs: Chinese Communist Party and China's Capitalist Revolution: the Political Impact of Market (Routledge); Market Communism: the Institutional Foundations of China's Post-Mao Hyper-Growth (Oxford); and Chinese Politics Illustrated: the Cultural, Social and Historical Contexts (World Scientific). He also published widely in international journals such as The New Political Economy, Polity, The China Journal, East Asia: An International Quarterly, Problems of Post-Communism, Chinese Journal of Comparative Law. He edited and co-edited several books and contributed numerous book chapters, and is also the associate editor of China: An International Journal.

📅 SESSIONS

» PUBLIC SECTOR ENTREPRENEURSHIP AND 21 CENTURY DEVELOPMENT: SOME LESSONS FROM CHINA