

LEONG CHAN HOONG

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR

Centre for Applied Research, Singapore University of Social Sciences

Leong Chan-Hoong is Associate Professor at the Centre for Applied Research, Singapore University of Social Sciences. Prior to the current position, he was the Head of Social Lab, at the Institute of Policy Studies, National University of Singapore (NUS). Chan-Hoong received a PhD Psychology (2006) from Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand, and MSc's in Statistics (2011) and Applied Geographic Information Systems (2019) from the NUS. He is the Singapore national representative for the World Association for Public Opinion Research, and an elected board member of the International Academy for Intercultural Research. A prolific writer, editor and reviewer, Chan-Hoong has served as consultant editor for International Journal of Intercultural Relations (IJIR) and Asian Journal of Social Psychology, and has reviewed manuscripts and research grant proposals submitted to distinguished journals and research agencies, including Applied Psychology: An International Review, the Israel Science Foundation, and Israel Ministry of Science, Technology and Space. He was Special Editor for the 2013 and 2019 IJIR Special Issues, "Multiculturalism: Beyond Ethnocultural Diversity and Contestations", and "Viewing intercultural adaptation and social inclusion through constructs of national identity", respectively.

SESSIONS

» INEQUALITY AND HUMAN WELL-BEING – A NEED FOR NEW IDEAS