

Professional Certificate in Global Politics and International Relations

PCIR 3: Global Politics, Social and Policy Development

Understand the origins of geopolitics, its evolution and implications in the contemporary world

Analyse complex global problems such as health, governance and the future of international relations

Learn how international relations has its effects on global technology, health and governance

The 21st century has been characterised by rapid changes and increasing interconnectedness, impacting individuals and societies in unprecedented ways and creating complex political challenges.

Through this course, individuals will critically engage with different and new perspectives, as well as to understand how international developments and politics can shape public policy in society.

*This is one of three short courses within the Professional Certificate in Global Politics and International Relations (PCIR). It is not compulsory to attend all three PCIR short courses unless you are working towards a Professional Certificate.

KEY TOPICS

- Introduction to Geopolitics
- US-China Relations
- Global Health and International Relations
- Global Governance
- International Relations and its Effect on Global Technology
- The Future of International Relations

WHO SHOULD COME

- Individuals who wish to pursue a career in private and public sectors that requires knowledge of international affairs and trends to develop and implement better policies.

Email
lkysppoe@nus.edu.sg

LinkedIn
Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy
Executive Education

Website
https://lkyspp.nus.edu.sg/executive-education

